

To a Son from a Sun

Be the sky.

Your eyes are the different hues of blue,
and you are thought of as heaven.
You are the one I look up to the most.

Yet, every sky needs a sun.

You need a sun.

Let me be the sun.

So, you can bring out other shades of colors on your darkest days.

Express your true colors and let us rule the Earth's atmosphere.

Let me bear you in my warm embrace so I can reassure you that I will always be with you.

Like the sky and the sun.